Dear Baylor Alumnus,

I am honored to share the latest issue of the Alumni NewsLink with you. Read on for information about our award-winning faculty members and learners, the East African Fellowship Training Program for blood disorders and cancer care and some big changes for two Baylor College of Medicine buildings.

I welcome you to get in touch with me at president@bcm.edu with your questions and comments.

Paul Klotman, M.D.
President & CEO
Executive Dean

An update from Adam Kuspa, Ph.D., dean of the Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences

Learners in the Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences have celebrated some amazing achievements this past year, including major awards from prestigious medical organizations.

Catch up here >>

Meet School of Medicine's new assistant dean

Please join us in welcoming Joel Purkiss, Ph.D., to Baylor College of Medicine. He serves as the assistant dean of evaluation, assessment and research in the School of Medicine. Dr. Purkiss comes to us from the University of Michigan Medical School with

Travel with us
To learn more about upcoming Baylor College of Medicine alumni trips, click here.

The Partnership
Next luncheon on the genetics of sleep is Nov. 15.
Learn more here.

Stay involved
There are plenty of ways to support the Baylor community. Check out our upcoming events.
Baylor and Texas Children's Hospital partner to bring fellowship training in oncology and hematology to East Africa

Baylor College of Medicine Foundation - Uganda has partnered with multiple healthcare and educational institutions to bring world-class specialty training in oncology and hematology to underserved areas of East Africa, including Uganda.

Meng Wang, Ph.D., awarded Pioneer Award from National Institutes of Health

The National Institutes of Health has honored Meng Wang, Ph.D., with its Pioneer Award. She will receive $3.5 million for her research on how health increases longevity, involving metabolite-directed signaling communication.

Texas Children's Hospital purchases two CHI St. Luke's Health Baylor St. Luke's Medical Center properties in the Texas Medical Center

Texas Children's Hospital purchased O'Quinn Medical Tower and the Baylor Clinic Building from CHI St. Luke's Health Baylor St. Luke's Medical Center. All current leases will be honored until they expire.

Baylor College of Medicine researcher awarded NIH New Innovator Award

The National Institutes of Health has honored Meng Wang, Ph.D., with its Pioneer Award. She will receive $3.5 million for her research on how health increases longevity, involving metabolite-directed signaling communication.

Join the Jaworski Society
Get the details

Mentorship opportunities
Contact Alex Hopkins, Director of Alumni Relations
ahopkins@bcm.edu
713.798.4262

Contact us
alumni@bcm.edu
844.BCM.ALUM

Connect with us

Refer your patients
Consult with a Baylor physician at 713.428.6411 or click here.

Join our team
Check our online career resources.

Get the details
Melanie Samuel, Ph.D., has received the National Institutes of Health's New Innovator Award. She will be awarded $1.5 million over the next five years, and her research entails inquiries into the origins of cognitive dysfunction and new solutions to reversing it.

Read more here >>

Coming soon: Alumni Reunion info

We can't wait to share the exciting speakers and activities for next year's Alumni Reunion! Please keep your eye out for future mailings and emails from us about all the events, which will be held April 27-29, 2017, for alumni graduating from the School of Medicine, School of Allied Health Sciences and the Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences.

See the attending years and programs >>