Psychiatrists Do Cry: Addressing Physician Grief and Burnout

Sheila LoboPrabhu, M.D.
Staff Psychiatrist, Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center
Associate Professor, Menninger Department of Psychiatry
Baylor College of Medicine
Houston, Texas

Objective: At the conclusion of this session, participants should be able to:
- describe a clinical framework for considering existential distress;
- list three kinds of "powerful deaths" likely to cause physician grief;
- recognize which patient losses are considered more difficult by physicians;
- identify how "death talks" are transformative learning experiences;
- describe Houston VAMC initiative to address physician grief.

Target Audience, Needs, Educational Methods, Activity Evaluation:
Physicians, residents, fellows, and healthcare professionals from a variety of disciplines need to be updated in a wide variety of topic areas which address all aspects of psychiatric practice including psychopharmacology, psychodynamic psychotherapy, ethics in psychiatric practice, and the treatment of select patient population. This activity aims to address the continuing interest of mental health practitioners in contemporary thinking and research regarding a wide variety of clinical issues confronted in clinical practice. Given the continuous expansion of the understanding of the biological mechanisms for some psychiatric illnesses, all mental health professionals’ educational needs are well served by ongoing exposure to the latest clinical research. Educational methods will include lectures, case presentations, audio/video presentations, panel discussions, and question & answer sessions. Participants will be asked to complete an activity evaluation.
