Pelvic Health Matters

“Pelvic Health for Women with Mobility Impairments”
Wednesday, April 6, 2016, 1 p.m. Central
Sophie Fletcher, MD, urologist, and Margaret Nosek, PhD, director of the Center for Research on Women with Disabilities, will present an overview of the meaning and importance of pelvic health for women with mobility impairments.

“Pelvic Health Transitions for Girls with Mobility Impairments”
Wednesday, April 20, 2016, 1 p.m. Central
Ellen Fremion, M.D., director of the spina bifida transitions clinic at Texas Children’s Hospital will discuss bowel, bladder, and reproductive issues of concern to girls with mobility impairments.

“Bladder and Bowel Issues That Affect Sexuality”
Wednesday, May 4, 2016, 1 p.m. Central
Leanne Beers, PhD(c), will lead a panel of women with mobility impairments and rehabilitation specialists in a discussion of these neglected but intersecting topics. Participants are invited to submit questions and take part in the online discussion.

“Access to Quality Pelvic Health Care for Women with Mobility Impairments”
Wednesday, May 18, 2016, 1 p.m. Central
Wendy Wilkinson, JD and ADA specialist will lead a discussion of laws requiring architectural, equipment, and program access to healthcare.

Funded by the Christopher and Dana Reeve Foundation and TIRR Memorial Hermann

For more information and registration, go to www.BCM.edu/crowd